Invitation

The International Scientific Committee and the local organizers invite you to another (15th) «St. Gallen-Breast Cancer Conference» in Vienna/Austria. Experts of virtually all major breast cancer cooperative groups and centers world-wide, actively engaged in basic and clinical research as well as in clinical management of breast cancer, will again present their latest data, critically reviewed by leading specialists in the field. The conference closes as usual with an update of the widely acknowledged and highly regarded «St. Gallen International Consensus on the present optimal primary treatment of early breast cancer».
